

Chris Lewis

President, ADUSA Supply Chain

Chris Lewis has served as the President of ADUSA Supply Chain since May 2021. He is responsible for supply chain strategy, procurement, e-commerce fulfillment, distribution, transportation, logistics, demand management and manufacturing for the supply chain network serving Ahold Delhaize USA's local brands. He is currently leading a three-year, $500 million supply chain transformation to build an integrated, self-distribution model of the future that enables Ahold Delhaize USA's local brands' omnichannel evolutions.

Chris's career spans more than 30 years across Ahold Delhaize USA companies. He began his career as a selector in a distribution center in Southern Maine. He then progressed his career into distribution, holding numerous roles with Hannaford and Delhaize America, including a leadership role in retail operations and executive leadership positions in supply chain and IT. Prior to his current role, he served as EVP, Supply Chain for Retail Business Services.

A transformational leader, Chris played an integral role in the integrations of the Food Lion and Hannaford supply chains as part of Delhaize America and the subsequent integration of the Ahold USA and Delhaize America supply chains, following the merger of Ahold and Delhaize. Today, he oversees the largest grocery retail supply chain on the East Coast that includes 20 self-managed traditional distribution centers, 28 e-commerce fulfillment centers and over 1,300 click and collect locations and shipped more than 1.2 billion cases of product in 2020. By 2023, the ADUSA Supply Chain network will increase to more than 27 self-managed distribution centers with additional e-commerce fulfillment and click and collect growth.

Chris attended the University of Southern Maine, where he studied leadership and organizational development.